

2nd March 2022

JOB ADVERTISEMENT

DESCRIPTION: Paray School of Nursing seeks one (1) highly organised Tutor. This officer will be responsible for all theoretical and clinical tutorial facilitation for Nursing and Midwifery students.

DUTIES:

- Plans for academic/ tutorial sessions for students in various levels of the academic programme
- Liaises with educator, heads of programs and academic head regarding tutorial sessions
- Implements and evaluates tutorial sessions for students
- Promotes analytical communication skills
- Engages in research studies
- Responds efficiently and effectively to emergency and disaster situation to save lives and prevent disability

QUALIFICATIONS

- Diploma in Nursing and Midwifery with minimum of two years clinical experience involving direct patient care.

OR

- Bachelor of Science in Nursing and Midwifery with minimum of two years clinical experience involving direct patient care.

AND

- Must be a registered Nurse Midwife
- Preceptorship training will be an added advantage.
- Past experience with teaching or learning where innovative strategies such as competency-based education, simulation or student clinical supervision will be an added advantage.

OTHER REQUIREMENTS

- Computer literacy
- eLearning experience either as a tutor or as a learner
- Innovative, analytic, interpretive and problem-solving skills
- Experience of using competency-based approach in teaching and learning
- Able to work a flexible schedule.
- Good communication and interpersonal skills to interact with faculty, students and other hospital staff.
- Mature and decisive
- Ability to work under pressure and still produce quality work.

SALARY: Commensurate with qualification

NUMBER OF POSTS: one (1)

Interested candidates should submit their full application package consisting of application letter, CV and certified copies of educational certificates to:

The Human Resource Office

Paray School of Nursing

P.O. Box 2

Thaba-Tseka

OR

Email to: info@parayson.ac.ls

CLOSING DATE: 10th March 2022